Disparities in African American Health

- Dr. David R. Williams -

David R. Williams is the Florence Sprague Norman and Laura Smart Norman Professor of Public Health at the Harvard School of Public Health and Professor of African and African American Studies and of Sociology at Harvard University. Dr. Williams' research has enhanced our understanding of the complex ways in which socioeconomic status, race, stress, racism and religious involvement can affect physical and mental health.

Sponsored by the Center for Research on Health Disparities, Department of Applied Health Science, Indiana University School of Public Health-Bloomington. Co-sponsored by the Indiana University Department of Sociology and the Center for Research on Race and Ethnicity in Society (CRRES).
